For Immediate Release, East Greenbush, NY, February 16, 2017

Scott L. Cooper, 49 of Troy, was stopped by State Police in Columbia County for a traffic infraction where it became learned he was wanted by Town Court. Cooper had been arrested in December for stealing scrap from the Town's recycling pen on Ridge Road and never showed up in court for arraignment. He was booked at police headquarters by Officer Donald Deitz and turned over to court.

In other cases;

Joseph J. Bradley, Jr., 74 of East Greenbush was ticketed for Harassment by Officer Donald Deitz, on the complaint of a Troy man who Bradley had pushed and kicked following a road rage incident that ended at Walmart.

Edward D. Martin, II, 30 of Pittsfield, was booked at police headquarters February 2nd by Officer Griffin Hotaling, on a Bench Warrant, after Martin failed to show up as scheduled in Town Court for arraignment on a DWI charge.

Jamie L. Silber, 31 of East Greenbush, turned herself in to Officer Griffin Hotaling on a Town Court Bench Warrant, after she missed her scheduled court appearance on charges of stealing from Target.

Jameer K. Boyd, 28 of Albany, came into the police station after being notified of a Bench Warrant from Warrant Control Dispatcher Ronald Yeates. Boyd was released to Town Court by Officer Griffin Hotaling.

Patricia M. Winters, 34 of Amsterdam, was taken into custody by Officer Edward Ashley during a traffic stop. Winters was named in Arrest Warrants issued by Florida Town Court and Amsterdam Town Court. She was turned over to Montgomery County Deputies.

All cases will be heard in Town Court, unless otherwise reported. Refer to source above for additional information.
